3. Narrative

On 03/12/24, I received an email from Detective Cpl. Payne asking for a review and detail of my BWC regarding this case and my involvement. Due to my minimal involvement and lack of discovered information, I had not completed a supplement at the time.

On 11/13/22, at approximately 1420 hours, I responded to 1122 King Rd to assist with canvassing the immediate area and I was tasked with conducting door to door contact in the [REDACTED] Queen Rd. area. I was informed that a likely time of the incident was between approximately 0400 and 0445. I was advised that other officers had already covered the south facing apartments of Queen Rd and I began going door to door on the center and north facing portions of the apartment complex with Cpt. Lanier. I spoke with several tenants who stated they did not hear anything strange and their only attention to 1122 King Rd. was brought upon by the increased police presence through the day. I did not identify the tenants I spoke to who stated they had not been awake or alerted to any unusual sounds, people or events. Of the tenants I spoke with and did not identify, all gave a similar account of standard party activity and nothing out of the ordinary for a typical Saturday night/Sunday morning.

While Cpt. Lanier and I were conducting door to door canvassing, our attention was drawn to dark red colored drops and splotches on several portions of the walkway of the building (particularly on the upper level near apt [REDACTED] and after further inspection, I could see that this same colored substance appeared to be rust which ran down the walls and was on several door jams as well as the siding throughout the apartment complex. I checked the walkway back from the area and did not see any other drops or splotches indicating a blood trail leading toward 1122 King Rd. There was no answer at apartment [REDACTED]. Based on those observations, I determined the drops and splotches to be uninvolved or unrelated.

I spoke with the tenants in apartment [REDACTED] who stated they went to bed around 0100 hours and music was present at 1122 King Rd. during that time, which they stated was "pretty much every weekend". Both tenants said they woke up around 0930 hours and there were no strange or alarming sounds. Due to having no information aside from standard weekend behavior from 1122 King Rd, I did not identify the two contacts.

I spoke with the tenants in apartment [REDACTED] identified as J [REDACTED] G [REDACTED] ([REDACTED]/2000) and I [REDACTED] B [REDACTED] [REDACTED]/03). The two stated they were at a birthday party on Blake St. (approximately 1.5 blocks away) and got to bed in the early morning hours, estimated to be approximately 0400 hours. I asked which way they walked back from the party and B [REDACTED] described them as walking back, west on Taylor Ave, then cutting up a stair path just west of [REDACTED] Taylor Ave. (the stairs travel from the parking lot of [REDACTED] Taylor Ave. up to Queen Rd, facing straight at the gravel parking lot of 1122 King Rd.). Both B [REDACTED] and G [REDACTED] stated they did not see anyone outside or pass anyone as they were walking. I asked if there was still a party or music going on at 1122 King Rd. when they walked by and they stated there was. Nothing seemed out of the ordinary and they did not hear anything that alarmed them in any way.

I spoke with the female tenant of apartment [REDACTED] who stated she works a "red eye" and she got home at 0630 hours and had left for work at 2145 hours on 11/12/22. She stated that there was activity, people coming and going from 1122 King Rd at that time but there was no one walking around at 0630 when she returned home.

After conducting the canvas through my assigned area, I cleared the scene. At no time during my involvement in the area did I cross into the designated crime scene.

Several days later, I passed on my notes to the ISP investigations team assigned with a the more thorough canvass of the area, highlighting the address and names of B [REDACTED] and G [REDACTED] who stated they were on foot in the area near the approximate time of the incident, which seemed to be the only substantial contact from my canvas.
